

EDWIN EINSTEIN, BACK FROM TRIP OF ADVENTURE TO SOUTH AMERICA

Witnesses Small Peruvian Revolution, Attends Peace Conference, Sees Canal Slide and Takes Picture of El Presidente for Movies

An inept Peruvian revolution, a landslide on the Panama canal, a thrilling ride on a gravity car from the top of the highest peak in the world, and a congress of students that was primarily a peace conference of the Latin-American states, are the interesting episodes encountered on a four months' trip to South America by Edwin Einstein, who has just returned from the Third International Congress of American Students in Lima, Peru, to which he was a delegate from the University of California.

Mr. Einstein, together with R. C. McGee and E. D. McNair, classmates in the University of California class of '12, represented this state university, and T. B. Saylor of Princeton class of '12, were the only delegates from United States, although four delegates from United States colleges were Peruvian graduates and four were connected with the American embassy at Lima.

ATTENDS STUDENT CONGRESS.

The story of the young Fresno man's trip is one of interesting adventure. Mr. Einstein left June 1st for the East, visiting the commencement exercises at many of the noted colleges, and sailed from New York to Panama, stopped but a day there and went on to Lima, Peru, where was held the Third International Congress of American Students from July 25 to August 1. The first and second of these congresses had been held in Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, and were purely South American congresses, but this year through the minister of Peru at Washington, the universities of the United States were invited to send delegates. There were eleven South American countries represented and 130 delegates, most of whom were lawyers or doctors—though a few engineers were represented—for few of the universities in that country teach a variety of subjects such as may be studied in United States colleges.

Mr. Einstein's stay in Lima was a continuous round of banquets and receptions. The business sessions of the day were heard entirely in Spanish which was in the main unintelligible to the visitors from this country, although a university training in the language was somewhat of an aid.

REPUBLICS IN FERMENT.

"The Congress of Students" was apparently as much a peace conference as anything else," said Mr. Einstein, yesterday. "Outside of the American delegation from the United States, the representatives were chosen by their governments, which paid all their expenses. In fact, the delegates represented their governments more than their universities. The Latin-American congresses are all in a state of ferment and at this time efforts were apparently made by the powers to smooth over existing feuds. Chile's delegation, I particularly noticed, seemed to have the treasury of their government behind them, so heavily did they entreat the host to have rumors of hard feelings between Chile and Peru for some time, but the Peruvians apparently made it a point to cheer a little more heartily the efforts of the Chileans than seemed absolutely necessary."

TAKES MOTION PICTURES.

Mr. Einstein took with him a motion picture machine and made many valuable films in the Andes, at the Panama Canal and in Peru. An amusing incident occurred at a Peruvian celebration in connection with Mr. Einstein's desire for pictures. At one time the president of Peru, Augusto P. Leguia, now retired, was to speak and Mr. Einstein was anxious to get a good picture of the notable. Though he admits he was afraid he would be summarily removed, Mr. Einstein crept in front of the platform and began to set up his machine. To his surprise, called officers, ministers and even an admiral and general or two insisted on helping him and "El presidente" smiled sweetly for his benefit. The president was aware of the value of advertising, and liked to have his picture taken, explains the returned delegate.

SEES SMALL REVOLUTION.

It was in Lima that Einstein was eye-witness in one of the small South American revolutions which could occur here with famous.

"As the presidential election approached, the people became possessed of the idea that the government was going to try to railroad its own ticket through the congress. At the day of election the people smashed the rolls and the helping was called off. It was a question as to whether there would be another election or whether congress would choose the next government head. Various candidates insisted upon giving luxurious banquets and epics, promised through the streets every day shouting "Viva" some one or the other."

"On the 25th of July, their Independence Day, troops were marched about the city continuously, apparently in celebration of the holiday but undoubtedly such because of the general unrest. At one point a fire from where I was standing, scattered chips were fired into the marchers. The soldiers returned the fire in several volleys—the crowd scattered. The revolution was over. Not long after, congress elected President and the revolution was over."

TWO WEEKS AT CANAL.

On his return, Einstein spent two weeks at the Panama Canal, taking many films of the work and studying with great interest the mammoth project. Though it appears to be far from completion, Einstein says that from 75 to 80 per cent of the work on the canal is finished and that the ocean level parts are practically completed, the most work now being with the locks in the interior.

While watching the progress of the work he witnessed a great landslide which filled the entire canal at one spot. Within two hours after it was reported, Colonel Goethals was on the spot and shortly after orders were issued for clearing away the dirt and proceeding with the work. There was no confusion, but a systematic sum-up of consequences and dispatching of orders.

"Now is the best time to see the canal," said Einstein. "In a short time, at least by next summer, they will begin letting the water in. This will entirely hide the great engineering feats which are now visible. But little of the great structures which are now to be seen will be visible then."

Einstein also saw the steamer Newport at Balboa where it was sunk by the collision of a dock, which penetrated two steel derricks across the deck of the boat.

Three days were spent in Kingston on the return. There is not much rain in Jamaica and the banana plantations demand water. The main canal, says Einstein, is lined with waving banana trees, banana trees and dense tropical vegetation, making a beautiful sight.

The traveler returned by way of New York, arriving in Berkeley October 1. He is now at home in this city.

CREME DE MENTHE AS PRICE OF FREEDOM

PARIS, Oct. 5.—Liquors are generally considered as commodities of doubtful legitimacy, but a Frenchman who lived in Marrakech owes his freedom, and perhaps his life, to a bottle of "creme de menthe." He left the dangerous city some three weeks ago, hoping to reach the coast, but not far outside the walls was captured by brigands and taken to their fastness. Going conscientiously through his prisoner's luggage, the chief discovered a bottle of "creme de menthe." Fascinated by the color of the liquid, he uncorked the bottle and sniffed appreciatively the aromatic odor of its contents.

"Is it a medicine?" he asked his prisoner, who, knowing the respect in which the natives hold doctors, replied that it was. He added that it was excellent for stomach troubles. Thereupon the chief averred that for several days he had been tormented by severe colic. His prisoner, dissatisfied, presented a few drops of the liquor on a lump of sugar to be taken internally. The dose was to be repeated if not immediately efficacious. After several doses the chief pronounced himself cured. Next morning there was an epidemic of colic among the ladies of the tribe. They besieged the amateur doctor's tent, clamoring for his infallible medicine. The magic bottle empty, the prisoner was allowed to depart after he had made a handsome monetary contribution to pay for the sleep which were to be sacrificed in his honor.

A BLUFF DEMAND

The Taft Republicans in San Francisco yesterday passed a resolution calling on Governor Wallace to call an extra session of the legislature to amend the primary law so that—well, that what? So that the Taft electors might get on the ballot? Not at all. That is the last thing these leaders want, and the last thing they ask for. If that was what they wanted, they would have got the electors on the ballot already, as they could easily have done under the present law. What they asked for was something quite different. It was "to permit each of the political parties of this state to place the names of their candidates for electors upon the ballot at the November election under their proper political designation."

That is the whole demand—that, somehow, the electors who shall have the name "Republican" shall be chosen by some other process than the vote of the Republican voters. The electors whom the Republican voters of California desired put on the ballot as Republicans are already on the ballot under that designation. The small minority of Taft Republicans demands some law which will give these electors the designation "Republican" even against the overwhelming decree of the Republican primaries that they shall not have that name. And they refuse absolutely to go on as "Taft Republicans," "Republicans for Taft," or even "National Republicans," (though this is the name they used in their petition to the Supreme Court) or to go on even as "Republicans" unless the nominees of the majority of the voters at the Republican primary shall be thrown off.

If what the Taft Republicans wanted was to get their electors on the ballot, then everybody would regret that the provisions of the referendum law, (holding up all legislation until there is time to see whether a referendum petition is to be filed against it) make it impossible to pass a law now giving them that privilege. To be sure, it is their own fault that they are not on the ballot already. They had the right to go on, under the present law, until a few days ago, but refused to take it. If an emergency law could be passed now, giving them the right, they would still refuse to take it. What they demand, and the only thing they will accept, is that the party name be taken away from the control of the party voters, and given to them. What they are fighting for is not votes, nor the right to cast them. They know they have very few votes, and they have themselves refused to permit those few to be cast. Their demand is for the name, always the name—the only thing Republican to which they are or ever were faithful. And the main thing they demand about even that name is not the right to use it, but the right to prevent the majority of the Republican voters from using it.

The whole thing is a bluff. First they made a bluff of trying to get on the ballot in a way they knew was impossible, while refusing to go on in the way that was desirable and easy. Now they make a bluff of demanding an extra session which they know can not be called, to pass a law which they know can not be passed, and which they would refuse to accept if it were passed.

If ever a candidate had unfaithful California managers, it is Taft. These men have refused to obey direct instructions from the Taft national committee; they have refused to exercise their rights under the law of California; they took the steps to stop Frank Jordan's solution, and they now refuse to ask for any relief but an impossible one—all for the purpose of preventing their candidate from getting votes. They know that if Taft electors were on the ballot, a considerable number of people would vote for them. That is what Taft and his national managers want. That is what Taft's most supporters in California want. And it is the one thing which Taft's unfaithful managers in California have determined from the beginning to prevent, and have succeeded in preventing.

COERCING EMPLOYEES

We used to hear a good deal about the political coercion of employees, but those who practiced it at least had the grace to be ashamed of it. Now, however, it seems to be boasted of, as a virtue. As, for instance, John Wamamaker in an open letter, is quoted as saying:

"If the men of business who have much to lose line up their employees who have steady employment to stand up to the duty of the hour, Taft's reelection will be accomplished, as the honest freeholders who do not want political office are the masters of the situation. If they only know it."

In other words, the large employers of the country are to "line up" the working men, and the control of the country is in the hands of the "freeholders"—the owners of land.

The only charitable explanation of this recommendation is that John Wamamaker has lost his mind—an explanation which those who saw (nobody heard) his speech at Chicago, seconding Taft's nomination, which he came all the way from Europe to deliver, will not find it difficult to credit.

But the imbecility of it is not in the existence of the idea itself, but in the fact that John Wamamaker who was once capable of better things, should make himself public sponsor for it. The favor with which it is received by other minds not yet broken down is shown by the fact that the San Francisco Chronicle was willing to pay telegraph tolls on this extraordinary letter, and to print it on the first page.

For that matter, the same thing crops out in a smaller way, among smaller men. A former judge, a Taft man, was overheard in San Francisco the other night saying that he was going to notify the workmen on his ranch that they must vote for Wilson or be discharged. Doubtless they will all promise to vote for Wilson. And doubtless, if these men have the spirit of American freemen (not necessarily freeholders) the precinct where they vote will be found to have gone unanimously for Roosevelt.

We have laws enough against this sort of coercion of employees, and we have also, among employees themselves a spirit which makes it impossible of accomplishment. But there ought also to be a sentiment that would penetrate even the stupidity of arrogant wealth, as a result of which a man would no more venture to advise or threaten this sort of coercion than he would advise or threaten any other sort of felony.

OUR PRIMARY LAW

There have been only two serious criticisms of the California primary law. One is that any voter registered as a Republican may vote at the Republican primary, even if the National Committee says some of them are not Republicans, and the other is that the Presidential electors are chosen by a convention of the legislative candidates nominated at this primary. A third criticism, too foolish to be pertinent, is added—that, somehow, the leaders of the "Johnson machine" are responsible for the way the people vote at the primaries, and for the fact that the candidates chosen at those primaries, carried out the instructions of their constituents.

Let us take up these criticisms in their order. First, any person by registering as a Republican, thereby qualifies himself as a Republican, and the majority of the persons so qualifying can control the policy of the party, even to the extent of endorsing candidates of another party.

This criticism is the exact reverse of that made by Senator La Follette, when he was campaigning in California. Senator La Follette insisted that our law was the laughing-stock of the world, because it imposed any party qualifications at all for voting at a party primary. In Wisconsin there is no party registration at all, and each voter is given the ballots of all the parties. He secretly selects one, marks it and returns it to the ballot clerk, who deposits it. The others he returns, similarly folded, to a discard clerk, who puts them in the discard receptacle. Thus any person may vote in the primary of any party, without registering as a member of the party, without agreeing to support any of its nominees and without even betraying on which party ticket he voted. La Follette sneered at our primary law because it did not go this far. Now the Taft people (all of whom in the legislature voted for it) are denouncing the law because it only goes one-tenth so far. In Wisconsin, the test of the right to vote at the Republican primaries is the secret act of the voters. Any Democrat may vote at the Republican primaries, and thousands do. In California, the test is the open, recorded choice of the voter. The stand-patters would make it acceptance of the acts of the National Committee. To one side criticisms our primary law because it makes it too hard for a voter to qualify to vote at a particular party primary. The other side criticisms it because it is too easy. Which indicates that it is probably just right.

The second criticism is that the electors are nominated by the candidates' convention. But on this, instead of objecting to the law, both critics are on record as approving it. The provision is copied verbatim from the Wisconsin law. That disposes of criticism from that side. And it was expressly approved, on the floor of the Senate, when it was passed, by Leroy A. Wright, who last week led the bolt against it, and was voted for by every member of the legislature, of all parties. And the fact is, it is an effective way of giving the voters at a party primary the electors they want. The objection is not to this method of getting the voters' will registered, but to the proposition that their will should control.

The other criticism—that a certain three or four politicians are responsible for the way the people voted, and for the fact that the men they elected carried out the instructions the people gave them—that is not so much a criticism of the law as a revelation of the mental limitations of those who made the criticism.

If there was anything the matter with the law, it was the fact that it referred the question to the people to decide, and there are those who do not believe the people should decide things. If there was any "stealing" done, the voters of California did the stealing. And the only stealing they did was to steal the party name from themselves and give it to themselves.

INJUN SUMMER.

By John T. McCutcheon.

Copyright, 1912, by John T. McCutcheon.
Tep, sonny, this is sure enough Injun summer. Don't know what that is, I reckon, do you? Well, that's when all the homestead Injuns come back to play. You know, a long time ago, long afore yer granddaddy was born even, there used to be heaps of Injuns around here—thousands—millions. I reckon, for as that's concerned, regular sure 'nough Injuns—none o' yer cigar store Injuns, not much. They was all around here—right where you're standin'. Don't be skeered—ain't none around here now, leas'tways, no live ones. They ben gone this many a year. They all went away and died, so they ain't no more left.

But every year, long about now, they all come back, leas'tways, their spirits do. They're here now. You can see 'em off across the fields. Look real hard. See that kind o' hazy, misty look out yonder. Well, there's Injuns—Injun spirits marchin' along an' dancin' in the sunlight. That's what makes that kind o' haze that's everywhere. It's just the spirits of the Injuns all come back. They're all around us now. See off yonder, see them leas't. They kind o' look like corn shocks from here, but them's Injun tents, sure as you're a foot high. See 'em now? Sure, I knowed you could. Smell that smoky sort o' smell in the air? That's the campfires a-burnin' an' their pipes a-goin'. Lots o' people say it's just leaves burnin', but it ain't. It's the campfires, an' the Injuns are hopplin' round 'em 't beat the old Harry.

You jest come out here tonight when the moon is hangin' over the hill off yonder an' the harvest fields is all swimmin' in th' moonlight, an' you can see the Injuns an' the tepes jest as plain as kin be. You can, ch? I knowed you could after a little while.

Jever notice how the leaves turn red 'bout this time o' year? That's just another sign o' redskins. That's when an old Injun spirit gets tired dancin' an' goes up an' squats on a leaf 't rest. Why, I kin hear 'em rustlin' an' whapelin' an' creepin' round among the leaves all the time; an' ever once in a while a leaf gives way under some fat old Injun ghost and comes floatin' down to the ground. See—here's one now. See how red it is. That's the war paint rubbed off'n an Injun ghost, sure's you're born.

Purly soon, all the Injuns'll go marchin' away agin, back to the happy huntin' ground, but next year you'll see 'em troopin' back—th' sky jest hazy with 'em' an' their campfires smolderin' away jest like they are now.

HORRORS OF ZAPATA'S CAMPAIGN
DESCRIBED BY ONE OF HIS FOLLOWERS

Zapata's nine hundred had grown to three thousand, and in the thirty miles between the two towns they spared neither house nor man over a strip five miles wide. It was as if a horde of human locusts had passed through the land, devouring as they went. At the hacienda of Acatlan, where there is a village of some five hundred souls, Zapata decided to hold a bull-fight, inasmuch as we arrived there on Sunday. A stockade was built by the hacienda laborers, working under the muzzle of the rifles of Zapata's men and a huge post erected in the center.

"What are you going to do with the post?" I asked Zapata, as we sat on our horses watching the erection of the bull-ring.

"That is the special box for the bull-fight," he replied. "It will be occupied by Senor Horcasitas." The manager of the plantation, a Spaniard, was named Horcasitas and Zapata's vengeance had been directed against the hated Spaniards, who are looked upon as oppressors by all Mexicans of the lower class.

On the day of the fight Horcasitas was brought from his home, stripped naked, and bound to the post, with his feet just below the height to which the bull could reach with his horns. Then Horcasitas's wife and two daughters were placed in a box built up on the side of the stockade just opposite their husband and father and compelled to watch his agony. Guards prevented the women leaving the box, and when they fainting, the two girls did, they were revived by none too gentle hands pouring raw superheated alcohol into their mouths. Both girls were of the beautiful Mexican type, and both went the way of all girls who fall into Zapata's hands. One stabbed herself to death; the second and older girl died two or three days later.

But to return to the bull-fight. A black bull from the fields of the hacienda was turned into the ring and a red-hot saber-point jabbed into his shoulders to make him fight. Meanwhile a brilliant red cloth had been bound around the feet of the unfortunate Horcasitas. One of Zapata's men, waving another red cloth, led the bull around the ring fence, and then when pain and anger had frenzied the animal, drew him directly to the red cloth on the stake. The bull lowered his head and hit the stake, shaking it from top to bottom. He seemed to realize that he had struck too low, and, backing away, charged again, this time hurling his head into the air to catch the tormenting red rag. One horn, entering the victim's foot, split it from heel to toe, and, as his wild screams of agony arose, a Zapatista shot him through the right hip with a rifle. This was more than I could stand, and I left the ring, but I learned afterward that Horcasitas's body, rid of its torment, was eventually wrapped in the red cloth and given to the bull for a plaything, after which Zapata himself shot the animal dead with a single shot from his pistol. SAN FRANCISCO HAS ONLY SENTIMENTAL
REASONS FOR DESIRING ANNEXATION

For the benefit of some of our interior exchanges the "Chronicle" will say that as regards the annexation of any adjacent territory the interest in this city is wholly sentimental. There is probably not a soul in San Francisco who cares a rap whether there is any annexation or not, except as many take pleasure in being able to name a great number as the population of the city they live in, and as they believe that it is only right that those whose main interests are in this city should have a voice in the question of annexation.

If the people of any adjacent territory desire to join us for the foregoing reasons, and because they think they will get better public service, we shall be glad to receive them. If they are not so inclined, let them stay as they are, and God bless them.

And that is all there is of it, so far as we are concerned. Except sentimentally, there is no gain possible for us in any annexation. Those who are urging the movement are sentimentalists.

There is no question of annexation now before the people. The only question is whether outlying districts which may desire to join us, but are so unfortunate to live outside the county lines, shall be permitted to do so. And nobody can honestly deny that they should have that permission. San Francisco is now just what it would be if outlying communities were politically joined to us for some purposes. Its business and industrial sections are the center of a large metropolitan district and will always remain so, there is not a foot of land in the city whose value would be affected one way or the other by any possible annexation. Nor, as a result of it, would any man's business location be changed. In the matter of taxation for general purposes, the advantage would be against us by reason of the enormous property values concentrated in our business district. Nevertheless some of the managers of these great values, but who live out of the city limits, say they would like to have a voice in our financial administration. And they ought to have it.

All the great cities of the world are finding it to their advantage to organize the metropolitan population into a metropolitan political unit for metropolitan purposes. Greater London contains an area of 693 square miles—including much open country—that the London which we think of and visit and talk about is grouped closely about the old "city" of London, which is about one mile square. It is the same with Greater San Francisco, which exists and will exist whether politically organized or not.

Greater London was organized because it was thought that for many purposes it would be convenient and economical to have a common government. And there are no other reasons, except sentimental, for the political organization of the Greater San Francisco. And in this city sentiment is the whole thing.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Proved Under Severe Tests

The New York World says that "there has never existed in this country a man whose word was charged more frequently than that of Colonel Roosevelt." We might add, that there was never a man with more rugged veracity than the colonel, either, as current history attests.—Marysville Appeal.

TUCKER GETS ONE YEAR FOR BIGAMY

Former Selma Boy Convicted on Testimony of Wife No. 2

Clay H. Tucker, college man, football player and matrimonial adventurer, was sentenced to spend one year in San Quentin for bigamy, yesterday. Sentence was imposed by Judge Burke in Redwood City. Tucker is the son of the late Judge Tucker of Selma.

He was convicted of bigamy on the testimony given by a number of witnesses, friends of wife No. 2, who was Miss Mary Wilson of 225 Develadero street, San Francisco. F. M. McNulty appeared as attorney for the wife and Joseph Cosgrove as attorney for Tucker.

The prosecution was inspired by the father of the complaining witness, M. H. Wilson, who traced Tucker through several escapades and finally established the evidence on which he was convicted and sentenced yesterday.

Tucker was arrested in Fresno, but claimed that he was not hiding from the officers, although a long search had been conducted for him. He admitted the second marriage, but claimed that he thought his first wife had secured a divorce.

MOTHERS CAN TAKE BABIES TO CHURCH; NURSE HIRED THERE

This category of the historic church has just opened a new office, but of which nature. The nurse will go on duty for the first time this morning and her work will be to take care of babies.

Rev. Duncan Wallace says that many mothers have stayed away from church because they did not wish to bring their babies, fearing they might disturb the service, and could not leave them at home.

As a remedy for this evil, it was decided to employ a nurse woman to care for these babies during church services. The nurse will be stationed in a special room in the church, and will have charge of the babies while their mothers take part in the service.

MADERA TO HAVE GARAGE OF BRICK

A. C. Swartz and Son are getting up plans for a brick garage of one story in height for John Dwyer of Madera. The building is to cost in the neighborhood of $7500 and will be modern in every particular. The same firm has completed plans for a fine residence in Madera for John High, one of the pioneers of that section. Swartz and Son have also completed plans for a two-room school building in Tranquillity Colony. Work will start immediately.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC TO BOOST APPLES

Annual Show at Watsonville Will Be Advertised by Harriman Lines

With "Eat California Apples" today, as the slogan, the Southern Pacific company has a week next Thursday as California Apple Day. Local agents of the Harriman lines are to obtain apples and make exhibits in the different railroad offices on the first day. The railroad company will assist the commercial organizations to take up the matter and give their endorsement. Hotels and restaurants will also be requested to make the day prominent by serving apples in every dish and mentioning the day on their menus.

The annual apple show at Watsonville opens tomorrow and the celebration will continue for a week. Special rates have been granted by the Southern Pacific to Watsonville from all parts of the state and this week's show is expected to surpass all former efforts. The line of publicity is put out after the annual California Railroad show, which had its inception in Fresno county.

DEVELOPMENT NEWS OF MIDWAY FIELD

TAFT, October 5.—At a depth of 400 feet the Associated Oil company has been fishing for several weeks to extract a sixteen-inch rotary bit from the hole of the No. 1 well on its section 22-36-31 in the Lost Hills country. Yesterday the well was dewatered by Allison and Berry of the bit being side tracked and the drilling allowed to proceed. This well is almost immediately opposite the townsite of Lost Hills and is a most promising one.

Well No. 3 of the Associated Oil company on section 22-31-23 in the Midway field was dewatered yesterday by Allison and Berry to loosen the 41-3-inch pipe. The well is down 3205 feet but is to be drilled part of the way because of casing trouble.

J. Spencer of the Kern Trading and Oil company is suffering with a badly sprained back caused by his lifting too heavily. Spencer is employed in the pipe line department and it is his duty to at times juggle the heavy strands. Yesterday he was working alone and put too much of a strain on himself. He was taken to the Taft hospital where he is now being treated by Dr. J. Walter Key.

The United Oil company is arranging to install an air compressor to be used in its two wells on section 1-32-23. The compressor arrived in Taft yesterday and is being taken to the lease on heavy trucks, it weighing in the neighborhood of nine tons. The electrical work and roughing in of the plumbing in the New Alford hotel annex in Taft is finished, and within two weeks Taft's handsome new addition to the Alford will be thrown open to the public. The painters and carpenters are now putting on the finishing touches. Contractor Vorce plans to leave about the middle of the month for San Francisco where he has several big jobs in view to handle.

Superintendent W. Hensley of the Kallispell Midway Oil company is putting forth every effort to overcome the water which has long been apparent in the hole of the No. 2 well on section 3-32-23. The well is down 3300 feet and although twice drilled into the sand it has both times found an impossibility to overcome water trouble. As an experiment, a shot of dynamite was discharged at the base of the hole by Allison and Berry yesterday to loosen the formation and make a pocket for cementing that enough cement may be put in the hole to build against any kind of a water pressure which may be apparent. The company has now two active producers on the lease both being of the class which make dividends.

The No. 1 well of the Combination Midway Oil company on section 22-32-23 which was perforated Wednesday showed at the rate of 400 barrels per day for several hours Thursday. The well promises to be an excellent one as soon as cleaned out, the flow Thursday having temporarily stopped cleaning operations.

MACHINE WORKS TO TAKE UP AUTOMOBILE REPAIRING

The Central California Machine Works at 792 K street, with a large and completely equipped plant, has decided to enter the automobile repair field.

It can easily be seen that with an equipment capable of turning out a gas engine, this firm can not only do a better job and do it more quickly, but at the same time it can be done at less cost.

All business will be done on a cash basis, and a 10 per cent discount will be given for the same.

It will pay all automobile owners who are desirous of cutting down their expenses and who are looking for fair treatment, to give this place a trial.

Mayor Snow to Deliver Address of Welcome; Many Prominent Speakers

Mayor Allen E. Snow and head camp officers of the Woodmen of the World will speak at the cornerstone laying for the new $35000 W. O. W. hall, which will be held on Sunday, October 27. The tentative program for this event has been completed. H. D. Carver of the Manzanita Camp, No. 160, will be master of ceremonies.

Prominent Woodmen from all over the state will be invited at this time, while a cordial invitation will be extended to other fraternal organizations of the city to join in the ceremony, as well as personal invitations to Fresno city and county officials. Mayor Snow, who will deliver the address of welcome on behalf of the local camp, was the first commander of Manzanita Camp.

A band selection will be followed by Mayor Snow's address of welcome. Peter F. Gilroy of San Francisco, deputy head camp, will speak, replying to the welcome on the behalf of the visiting officers. A selection will next be rendered by the Clara Schumann quartet.

A. E. Sunderland of Fresno, head banker of the California Woodmen, will deliver the following address. M. T. Mosca of San Francisco, editor of the Pacific Woodman, will speak next.

The second number by the quartet will be followed by an address by T. M. Robinson of Oakland, chairman of the board of head managers. The ceremonial of the breaking of the flag and the laying of the cornerstone will follow. The officers of Manzanita camp will take part in this ceremony.

Last Friday evening the campaign committee of the Manzanita Camp met for the first time and discussed the prospects for a great gain in membership by the first of the year. Should the necessary increase of eighty members be secured, Manzanita Camp would be one of the ten largest camps in the state and would secure a correspondingly large representation in the national conference next spring. The convention chooses the number of delegates from the enrollment of the camp on the 31st of the December preceding the meeting.

On this campaign committee are Ed Jones, chairman, H. E. Butcher, H. D. Carver, William Moore and George H. Ball. The campaign which is to be waged from now on will be in spirit a personal campaign and the slogan is "A New Member for Each Member."

A great emphasis being placed on the duty of every Woodman in the camp to secure a new member before the first of the year.

A. B. Crow, district manager, instituted a new camp last evening at Patterson. In this newly organized camp there are nearly 40 charter members.

LOST HILLS REFINERY TURNING OUT GASOLINE

Fine Grade of the Lubricant Is Being Produced There

TAFT, Oct. 5.—The refinery of the United Oil company at Lost Hills is now turning out grade of gasoline that is better than the visiting motorists are in the habit of using.

Many of the cars have found it necessary to fill their tanks at this place. Having done so is without instructions as to the high gravity of gasoline that they are purchasing, suffer from motor trouble until a proper mixture is attained.

When this is once accomplished, one's engine has a kick to it that under the desert sands is like a feather, so far as the labor of the engine is concerned.

Although ranchers are fast signing contracts for their respective tonnages of beefs with the sugar refinery at Taft, a railroad to handle the many cars of beefs from this locality is being greatly encouraged by the fact that the few additional miles of construction from Alpaugh to the Lost Hills, will give the old fields their much needed better facilities in the matter of transportation.

FRESNO COUNTY COMING TO FRONT AS DAIRYING CENTER OF THE STATE

Industry Is Worth $200,000 a Month and 1912 Output of Butter Is Estimated at 4,000,000 Pounds;
Alfalfa Is King of Stock Food

That Fresno county is rapidly coming to the front as one of the dairying centers of the state is evidenced from the monthly output of the creameries. There are ten plants in operation, and every thirty days about $125,000 is paid to the dairymen for butter-fat. The industry is worth at least $200,000 a month to the county, according to estimates made by local creamery men and officials of the Chamber of Commerce.

These figures are based on the average monthly payroll of the ten creameries and the numerous small farms where butter is made and sold in the county. In 1910, Fresno county produced 382,744 pounds of butter and eight years later the amount had increased to 2,300,825 pounds, showing a tremendous increase in ten years. Last year, the production was 2,500,444, or an advance of 512,819 pounds over that of 1910.

On this basis, it is estimated that at the end of 1912 the figures will show something like 2,600,000 pounds. In one district alone, it is estimated that seven tons of butter are manufactured and sold weekly. This is within a radius of fifteen miles of Taton, on the banks of the Kings river. Butter is commanding a record price for this season of the year and right now the dairymen are in clover, inasmuch as the demand exceeds the supply. This insures a bright future for the dairying business.

Dairying as an industry has been growing rapidly in Fresno county in the past fourteen years. Before that it was only a small part of the products, but the tendency to grow alfalfa resulted in many little dairies starting up. Alfalfa is now king of the food for stock and it thrives so abundantly in this county that many vineyards and orchards have been giving up. Statisticians have been showing that alfalfa is more profitable for stock than clover or timothy, which are still grown in the Eastern states as the best for horses.

ALFALFA IS KING.
The alfalfa seed yield four or five crops in a season and from seven to ten tons to the acre. This makes alfalfa valuable for hay, as prices range from $8 to $12 a ton, but many farmers are now growing alfalfa for the dairy. It is considered the best stock food and is sold in large quantities to the dairymen. The cost of starting a dairy is estimated as follows:

COST OF A DAIRY.
Cleaning up old place of unimproved land at $5000, or $25 an acre, including it and seeding it, $1500, or $15 an acre; purchase of six cows at $100 a head, $2500; 150 bushels of alfalfa, $12 each, $2400; this gives a total of $11,400. These figures are based on the fact that the dairymen have estimated that a cow will feed two bushels of alfalfa a day, and a cow will eat 100 pounds of alfalfa a day.

In round numbers, the cost of a successful dairyman can be estimated as follows: The gross returns from

$209,200 SECURED FOR BIG RAISIN CORPORATION

Progress of Work Delayed
Because of Fresno
County Fair

Special Committee to Ask
Merchants to Close for One Day

The $209,200 mark has been passed by the Million Dollar Corporation, and less than $100,000 worth of stock subscriptions need to be taken now to organize a board of directors. The $200,000 mark was passed shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and at 6 o'clock, the total reported was $209,200.

The meeting of the central advisory committee yesterday afternoon was very short, as many of the members were anxious to attend the county fair. Adjournment was ordered an hour earlier than usual.

On account of the fair last week, J. P. Bolton, chairman of the promotion committee, said that little could be reported. The fair occupied the attention of everyone. The huge display cards for business houses and banks have been printed and mailed to the district chairmen for distribution.

J. P. Bolton, William Glass and T. R. McKelvey were appointed a special committee to meet with the Fresno Merchants' Association on next Tuesday evening and present the proposition of setting aside some day in the near future on which the banks and business houses of the entire raisin district would close and everyone get out with their automobiles and make a house to house canvass for subscriptions to the stock of the Million Dollar Raisin Company. L. D. Scott of Selma, said that the merchants and bankers of Selma were very much in sympathy with the movement and that he felt sure there would be no opposition, but the heartiest co-operation for the project, at Selma. H. W. Wrightson said the same for Fowler, and it was the general opinion of those present that the business men of other communities would do the same as Fresno, Selma and Fowler. Mr. Nutting stated he had been in conversation with a director of the Merchants' Association, who had assured him there was little question but that Association would favor strong efforts to help the proposition of a "Raisin Rally Day."

The proposition was discussed, but not formally acted upon, of sending out return postal cards to all growers and probable friends of the cause, printed as follows:

1—I have read the literature of the Million Dollar Company and think the proposition is all right—
2—I have read the literature of the Million Dollar Company, and I do not want anything to do with it—

3—I have already subscribed to the stock of the Million Dollar Company—
4—I have read the literature of the Million Dollar Company, and if approved by a solicitor, would be favorable to talking stock.

These cards are to be returned with a cross in the appropriate place.

It is felt by solicitors in the field that a good deal of time is lost calling upon people who are not open to conviction for various reasons, and in some cases such people take an hour or two of a solicitor's time arguing against the possibility of doing anything, merely because other things have failed, etc. It was argued that if people who were in favor of the proposition, or open to discussion would place a mark or cross after their sentiments on the card and mail it to the Exchange office or to any of the solicitors, they could then be waited upon and any suggestions answered without waiting time to call upon people who are not open to conviction. It is suggested that any reader might cut out this piece and mail it in with some mark showing that he wished some one to call on him, or might write a letter to that effect, which would be handed to whatever solicitor is working in his territory.

CATHOLIC BAZAAR ENDS AT HANFORD

HANFORD, Oct. 5.—The bazaar of the St. Bridget's Catholic church closed at midnight with an enjoyable season of dancing. The pretty booths were thronged with purchasers during the afternoon and evening. Saturday, the live stock auction was well patronized. Father Scher, and the people of the church who have succeeded feel well repaid. The bazaar was given for the benefit of a fund to establish a parochial school.

THREE FRESNO BOYS ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY

Confess to Having Robbed
Japanese Camps About
This City

Ed Estis, Frank Purio, and John Starr Secure Over
$200 and Jewelry

The perpetrators of thefts amounting to several hundred dollars which have been reported from Japanese camps about Fresno for the past month were discovered yesterday in the arrest by Deputy Sheriff Thorwaldson and Detective, of Ed Estis, aged 20, Frank Purio, 17 and John Starr, 16, local boys, all of whom have freely confessed to burglaries which have been puzzling the authorities for many weeks.

According to the confessions of the boys, Japanese camps were robbed near the Scandinavian colony, on north Fresno avenue, east and west of Fowler, near Del Rey, the Fresno Winery, Parler, and Redley, in all probably $200 and watches, razors and revolvers belonging to the campers were secured. Some of the money was spent in San Francisco, which the boys visited a couple of weeks ago to dispose of some of the jewelry secured. The method of the youthful burglars was simple. While the Japanese of a camp were at work in the field they would wander into camp and knock on the door of one of the tents or shacks. Should anyone answer they would question the Jap as to where work could be found for a certain number of days, or ask for a fictitious Japanese and then walk away. Should no one answer two of the boys would enter, leaving one outside to guard the entrance and to give notice of anyone's approach. In this way they raided dozens of camps and no trail was left.

TELL OF HOLD UP
Last Monday evening a Japanese in a Parler camp surprised the boys at work and was held up at the point of a gun. Purio explained this hold-up last night as follows:

"We were working in that camp when all of a sudden this Jap came in on us. I was scared to death and my legs felt weak but I managed to hold a gun to him and the boys ran. The gun wasn't loaded. I got away at the first chance. We did not take anything out of that camp, we were too frightened."

Purio did not try to lay the blame on the other boys, admitting that he was as guilty as any. He did say, though, that before he joined with them the others had been working in the camps near Oriskany and Dinuba. This would explain the series of robberies of the kind that have been reported almost daily from districts about here. According to Purio, Starr was the bravest and would always go to the camps first. Estis he said nearly always stood guard though he did at times enter with one or the other of the boys. Estis denies ever entering the houses.

Purio lives at 204 Mary street in this city. He was on probation, having been in trouble in this city before. Starr is believed to live on O street while Estis' parents are on P street. Estis was arrested in Dinuba where he was working. He had not been with the other boys in the last two or three raids made on camps.

From ten to twelve clear cases can be made against the boys for burglary with which they are charged at the jail.

AT WORK FOR MONTH
The burglaries were first reported about a month ago to the Sheriff's office and Sheriff McKee's detailed Deputy Sheriff Horace Thorwaldson on the case. The deputy declares it was one of the most difficult cases he ever had to work on. There was no description of the boys and they had been seen by no one at their work—until of course, the hold up last Monday by which time the case had been practically substantiated by other evidence. The last job was last Tuesday near Redley. A description was obtained of the boys by a man who had passed them on the road from the camp.

The hiring of a tig at Redley gave the officers a clue which followed up with the result that the three boys were apprehended. Two boys had been arrested the day previous as suspects but proved ample alibis. Purio and Starr at first denied all knowledge of the crimes but the stories they told conflicted. Further questioning brought forth a full confession from each. Purio was forced to lead the authorities to where Estis was at work.

EXPLORER STUDIES GUATEMALA TRIBE

Young American Takes a Long Tramp in Tropical America

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Russell Hasting Millward, the youngest American explorer after a trip of two years through the wild regions of Guatemala in which time he walked more than 3,000 miles and made three complete trips across the state from Belize, on the Caribbean Sea, west to Laguna Carman, on the Gulf of Mexico. The three thousand miles traveled in Africa makes him the holder of the mileage record traveled on foot and brings that title to America.

Mr. Millward has been exploring this little known region in the interests of several geographical societies. He and Claude Urratia, Government surveyor for the state of Guatemala, are the only white men to have penetrated the interior of the state. Mr. Urratia did not cross the state. Mr. Millward in the course of his explorations discovered three large lakes in the interior, which are unnamed. He tells many interesting stories of discovery and relates an exciting incident in which he and "Dick" Marston a soldier of fortune, were poisoned in a restaurant in Guatemala City.

"I left New York two years ago," said Mr. Millward, "to explore the interior of the Guatemalan Republic and make a study of the Carib, a tribe living on the Caribbean coast of the country. I found upon arrival that Mr. Urratia, the Government surveyor, had

CHURCH OUTLINES VIEWS ON TARIFF

Speaks in Five Towns of Tulare County; Goes
North This Week

Denver S. Church, Democratic candidate for Congress, made a rapid trip through Tulare county yesterday, speaking in four towns during the day and in Visalia last night. On Monday Church starts at Kernan and goes north into Merced and Stanislaus counties.

In referring to the tariff and the Democratic idea of a tariff on California products, Church said that the raising of oranges, lemons and other products in this district are luxuries and that as such, would be subjected to a high tariff, because the Democratic policy was to tax luxuries for the revenue.

"It is now the Democratic policy to remove the tariff as much as possible from the necessities of life, especially from those necessities which are manufactured and controlled by these three great combinations, which are operating in restraint of trade," he said, "and to gather the revenues for the running of the government as much as possible from the luxuries of life. This, we claim, will in a measure cripple the increasing power of the trusts and bring down the cost of living which has increased so marvelously of late, and in a measure remove the burden from the shoulders of the oppressed."

"The procuring of the revenues as much as possible from the luxuries of life and as little as possible from the necessities of life, seems to me so just and equitable that it cannot be the subject of successful controversy. A tariff upon orange works no hardship, because orange is not a necessity, unless he wishes, but a tariff upon a biscuit may work a great hardship for the biscuit must be purchased at any cost for it is a necessity."

This brings me to our local conditions. Some people claim that the Democratic policy tends to remove the tariff from raising oranges, lemons and olives, the products of this valley. This is not true.

"These products are luxuries. The tariff would like to make them necessities but the fact that raisins are selling at two cents a pound is evidence enough that people can get along without them. And these commodities mentioned above are sold under a Democratic policy because they are luxuries, the very class of commodities from which the Democrat believes in procuring as much as possible, the revenues for running the government. "Under the Republican policy the tariff might be removed from these luxuries but under the Democratic policy it never will."

"Personally I would be in favor of

Agricultural Department

By W. G. HUMMEL
Assistant Professor of Agriculture, University of California.

GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS FOR FARM WOMEN

We talk much of the work of the Department of Agriculture, and of the agricultural experiment stations for farm men, of what it publishes as to methods of increasing the production of farm crops, of caring for farm stock and of marketing farm products. There is great need for a better knowledge of all these farm operations and methods and for wider information concerning the principles upon which successful practice in the field and in caring for farm stock is based. But there is just as great a need for wider and better information as to the most efficient ways of doing the work of the farm home and as to those principles upon which successful methods in the home are based. Indeed, the importance of proper instruction for the housewife is felt by many to be greater than for a corresponding amount of instruction for the worker in the field. Ignorance of operations in the field is felt chiefly through impairment of the quality or reduction in the amount and value of the crop. Ignorance in the home is a much more serious matter, in that through food improperly prepared and sanitary conditions neglected the life of the worker is often endangered and not infrequently destroyed. A poorly nourished body, whether of man or animal, is inefficient no matter how well bred or how equipped for service it may be in other respects. Good food well prepared and proper hygienic care maintain health and add to the working power not only of the weak and helpless also are enabled to gain strength and become efficient aids in family support.

But the selection and cooking of food are only two items in the duties of the country woman. Knowledge of these is not all that the housewife requires. There are other problems, such as those connected with the rearing and education of children, the clothing of the family, the providing of home conditions that are sanitary, the social, intellectual and physical improvement of the housewife herself.

We all realize, as has been said, that much has been done by the government and the stations to help the farmer to become more efficient in his work. But we often fail to appreciate fully the valuable publications of both of these institutions for farm women and for housewives everywhere. Yet some of the best obtainable literature on home economics is issued by the Department of Agriculture and by the agricultural experiment stations. The recipes given in them are tried and tested. The advice as to household care and management has been prepared by experts after years of study and experimentation. The home economics departments of the schools and colleges realize the importance and value of these publications and utilize them freely, finding them of inestimable service. Many farm women and some country women are learning to appreciate them and to secure them. A wider knowledge of their value should be disseminated and farm women, as well as others, should be on the alert to find out and to secure for themselves such as will be useful to them in their work. It is regrettable that so many farmers' wives are unfamiliar with these publications; for in them is bound up a valuable home economic library, much of which can be had for the asking. The housewife, in many cases, is not even aware of their existence, and if she is, she will not send for them as she will be astonished at the interesting and valuable material which they contain. Practically no phase of home work but is treated to some extent in these publications. In general, they are of a character given may be somewhat too technical or scientific for ready use by one who has had no scientific training; but in the majority of instances the information is stated in such clear, simple, definite terms that it may be readily understood by any housewife.

In a brief space it is impossible to do justice to this valuable free printed matter, but to indicate its scope, we may well mention a few of both station and government publications along housekeeping lines.

RAILROAD LANDS

Your Money Will Buy You More Land and Better Land Here

$75 to $150 An Acre

10% Down--Easy Payments

Within 3 Miles of an Electric Railroad Operating 16 Trains Daily

When the Central California Traction Company finally decided on the route that would be taken by it between Stockton and Sacramento, all of the land that could be bought along the right of way was quickly purchased. This was to prevent speculators securing this land and then holding it at exorbitant prices. The traction company wants actual settlers in order that their business will be increased. That is why this land is being sold at just half what could be secured for it. The railroad company wants merely enough to pay for the expense of selling and interest on the money above what the land cost them. Most of this land lies within 3 miles of the electric railroad.

Two purchase propositions are open. One is to pay 10 per cent down, the remaining payments being made weekly or monthly for five years. The other proposition is to pay 20 per cent down, the remaining payments being made in 5 annual installments. The low price at which this land is being sold and the easy terms make it a most inviting proposition. The man seeking a home cannot do better than to investigate this land and join one of our Sunday excursions to this property.

Excellent Climate and Transportation

The climate is very pleasant. Through a water gap in the Coast Range Mountains the cool, invigorating sea breeze flows in from the bay every afternoon and evening, making this region the most delightful of the San Joaquin Valley. It is extremely healthful, as there is no malaria. Mosquitoes do not bother in this pleasant land.

The Central California Traction Company operates 16 electric trains every day between Stockton and Sacramento. There is quick and cheap transportation to either of these cities. From both of them water transportation can be secured to bay ports. And from both of them there are numerous transcontinental lines East. Within a radius of 100 miles of this district 2-3 of the population of the state reside, making the markets extremely good and also making this land very valuable.

Fertile Soil and Plenty of Water

The soil is a dark chocolate loam, very level and very deep. That it will raise nearly every crop that can be produced in California is proven by the fact that the farmers of this region grow all kinds of fruits, including the best oranges of Northern California. Alfalfa grows very well and produces heavily. Grapes grown in this region can not be surpassed. The land is easily worked, being free from stones, alkali and adobe.

Below the fertile loam soil is a stratum of water bearing gravel. It is from this source that the water for irrigating is obtained at half the expense of securing water in other places. The supply is inexhaustible. Wells sunk to this level and pumped from for many hours continuously do not lower the water level lowered in the heart.

NAME.....

are farm homes where some of the rooms get but little of either air or sunshine. Fresh air and sunshine are things every farm home can have, and they should be made the most of as advantages.

An abundant supply of pure water is essential in every farm house. In some sections the drinking water is not fit for use. Many country people become troubled with stomachic disorders and other sickness because of impure water. If such water is used, it should be placed for several days in the house and outbuildings to prevent any escape into it. It should be covered with a cloth to prevent contamination. The water may be purified by boiling, or by using a storage tank placed in the ground or built in the basement, or elsewhere, for use in the house.

As soon as the farmer is able to sink in the kitchen, bathroom, washbowl, and sanitary closets should be installed. The house should be substantially furnished with good, strong, comfortable furniture. Expensive furniture is not necessary in a country home. An antiseptic or private electric or other good lighting system is a great comfort and convenience and not as expensive as is thought by many.

If the farmer can afford it, a furnace should be put in to heat the house. Most of the work of putting in this and other farm conveniences are often done by the men of the farm in slack hours, lessening the expenditure considerably. After installing a furnace, the cost of maintenance will be found to be less usually, than for keeping up fire in stoves and fire places, when the house is to be heated in a large way.

The farmer should supply his home with such of the leading farm papers as he can afford, with magazines, a good daily paper, rural books and a good entertaining and instructive book for the children. The rural free delivery reaches most farm homes daily and mailed publications can therefore be brought to the house with a minimum of expense to the farmer.

The telephone is an other convenience the necessity of farms can not ford. It enables the family to keep in touch with neighbors and the outside world, besides frequently facilitating the working of certain projects.

The house should be well screened to keep out flies and mosquitoes.

The children's comfort should be considered. Hammocks and swings in shady and convenient places will afford much amusement and comfort. A good shepherd or collie dog is a good companion for the younger folk, and frequently more than makes up for the lack of a trained dog. A valuable addition to every farm. Bird houses are a source of attracting valuable birds to the farm and serve as a means of keeping the birds from destroying insects.

Children should have a knowledge of the uses and functions of the different articles, so as to nourish their growing children and her adult family properly. Many children do not get the proper start in life because of inferior or unbalanced food, and their future development may be permanently injured.

The house surrounding the house should be kept clean and attractive. A good lawn with shrubs, flowers in the corners, screens of vines to hide unsightly places, and a few flower beds in convenient places, are all desirable. But the doorway should be kept as attractive as possible, and the house should be as attractive as possible.

A good home vegetable and fruit garden should of course be provided, so planned and planted that there is a succession of vegetables for the use of the house in every season, and that the garden should be raised so that the farmer will not need to buy either vegetables or fruits for his table at any time, unless he has a home supply.

The farmer, his wife and grown-up children in every community should meet for their individual and community improvement. They should have organizations which should consider improvements, improvements of farm products, and the advancement of the community, and the advancement of the community, and the advancement of the community.

FRENCH PRIEST SCORES FASHIONS

Says Women Should Free Themselves From Such Trammels

PARIS, Oct. 5.—The fashionable Parisian priest, the Rev. Father Gaffrey, has been stirred by a discourse pronounced at the Casino on the intellectual emancipation of women by Father Gaffrey, the prominent Parisian divine, celebrated for his sensational sermons.

Addressing the feminine part of his audience, he said: "You have profaned the work of God. With the diabolical assistance of the dressmaker, you have dared to change the formation of your bodies, which God has given you. You make yourselves look ridiculous by dressing like suitcases. Any opportunity seems natural to you and please you."

"Your hair is a defilement to all sense of reason and your bodice skirts seem to have been cut by the EXP. time to work your destruction. It makes me sick to think that such women have husbands. Fly the poor husbands!"

"I see no reason against the intellectual emancipation of women, but before thinking of such things they should emancipate the bodies from the trammels of fashion."

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for
All Hair Troubles

Who does not know the value of Sage and Sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, Sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than Sage and Sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put out an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for keeping the hair and scalp in clean, healthy condition. If your hair is losing its color or constantly coming out, or if you are troubled with dandruff or dry, itchy scalp, get a fifty-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, use it according to the simple directions, and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in the appearance of your hair.

All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Agent, Monroe Drug Co.

CHICKENS GALORE AT CITY FREE MARKET

Seventh Selling Day Brings Out Largest Collection of Vendors

The city free market was just two weeks old yesterday, with seven marketing days held thus far. The one of yesterday brought out the largest number of vendors. They were placed in position close to each other along the chain line on Fresno street, even turning the corner at K street to the number of four or five and two being placed at the gutter line.

Hay was brisk also, and although the Saturday marketing hour is until noon there was a very general clearing out by sales by the hour of 11 o'clock. The buying at the free market is being done during the early hours as experience has demonstrated so that it must be borne in mind that the corner at 10 and 11 o'clock will find the offerings pretty well thinned out.

There was no lack yesterday for chickens for Sunday dinners. Following the market, who is in charge of the market and who is somewhat of a chicken man himself, declared that 100 dozen chickens were sold yesterday for 50 and 65 cents each, according to age and size. Meat and food subject is under consideration in connection with the permanent market.

Mayor Snow says, however, that in chicken that were drawn up for sale, the vendors were forbidden to take any more than the line too strictly. He wants to give the market a good and fair start and once it has been popularized it will be time enough to draw the lines more rigidly.

City Health Officer Aiken says this experience brings up an important question that will have to be strictly regulated when the market is beyond the experimental stage and is permanently established as a municipal institution. In the line of his food inspection work, Bancroft declares that all other food stuff that he considers as unfit for human consumption and the question is whether in offerings at the free market he shall also confiscate and destroy condemned stuff or continue with the present method of permitting the condemned articles to be taken away and possibly sold elsewhere.

One vendor with a cartful of chickens sold out his entire consignment to a restaurant. The man with eggs, home made butter and cheese made his second appearance and as before he was sold out so quickly that he was not given opportunity even to unhitch horses.

A note of disappointment is voiced, explainable in a measure on account of the comparative newness of the market movement and the lateness of the season, that actual truck gardeners have not in any appreciable number availed themselves of the opportunity for cash rather than the market offers. In line are found as vegetable sellers well known licensed peddlers who buy their wares wholesale from the producers, who congregate at daylight at the across-the-track market to make their sales deliveries. These peddlers are selling of course at a profit on their outlay.

The producers, it is reported, have not manifested much interest in the free market because it is conducted only on three days of the week, whereas they bring in produce daily for sale, and moreover do not sell at retail. There has been some talk of the wholesale producers to make use of the free market location for wholesale business and thus concentrate all the garden truck and day for 50 and 65 cents each, according to age and size. Meat and food subject is under consideration in connection with the permanent market.

Mayor Snow says, however, that in chicken that were drawn up for sale, the vendors were forbidden to take any more than the line too strictly. He wants to give the market a good and fair start and once it has been popularized it will be time enough to draw the lines more rigidly.

ASKS CUSTODY OF 2-YEAR-OLD NIECE

Mrs. Rose King yesterday applied to the Superior Court to be appointed guardian of her niece, aged 2 years. She stated that it was the dying request of the child's mother that she should have the bringing up of the little one. On Thursday last, she states, the father, A. S. Bismore, took the child from her, placing her in the care of a woman, the mother of eleven children, and in poor circumstances. She charges that since the mother's death, a year ago, the father has contributed only $10 toward the child's support. Judge Austin will hear the case tomorrow.

He was finally able to get the horses under control and escape from death.

QUICK CAPTURE MADE OF MERCED FORGER

Arrested in Sacramento 36
Hours After Crime by Burns Detective

MERCED, Oct. 5.—Within thirty-six hours after the case had been put in the hands of the Burns Detective Agency, Paul Stone, alias C. Prosser, alleged to have passed a worthless draft for $42.50 on J. B. Hart, cashier of the First National Bank of Merced, was under arrest in Sacramento. The capture was brought about by the fact that Stone left his signature on a hotel register in this city September 19.

Stone, alias Prosser, came to Merced September 19 and the next day succeeded in passing a bad draft on the First National Bank. He was identified at the bank by a local tailor, to whom he had represented himself to be an agent of the Hoge-Blake company of New York.

After passing the draft, Stone left Merced and the crime was not discovered until October 3. The bank put the case in the hands of Detective McJannet, of the Burns agency, who is here on the Fresno county treasury robbery case, and McJannet immediately set to work. He found Stone's signature on the register of Hotel El Capitán under date of September 19. This he made a copy of and mailed the copy to the San Francisco office of the Burns agency. It arrived there yesterday morning and was dispatched to the other Burns office in the west. Last night a telegram, signed "Prosser," was found on a hotel register in Sacramento, and Stone was arrested. He will be brought to Merced for prosecution.

NEEDHAM TALKS TO TULARE GRANGERS

Resolutions Are Passed by Grangers
Condemning Educators in Not Instructing as to Voting

TULARE, Oct. 5.—Needham and Mrs. J. C. Needham were guests at a luncheon given by the Tulare grangers today. Mr. Needham gave a short talk to the members, emphasizing them on the work of the grange, and its service to the state.

A strong resolution was adopted condemning educators for the lack of attention paid toward impressing on the mind of the child, male or female, that the elective franchise is not only a privilege but a duty. This resolution will be presented for approval by the state grange, which meets in San Francisco October 15.

Today's attendance at the grange was the largest since the summer recess.

BRANCH IS ORGANIZED FOR HUMANE SOCIETY

Clovis People Hold Meeting
Friday for Purpose; Rev.
Jordan Is President

CLOVIS, Oct. 5.—A well attended meeting of the forty-two subscribers to the Fresno County Humane Society, whose names appear below, residing at Clovis, was held in the parlors of the residence of Mrs. L. W. Gibson of Clovis, where it was resolved that they form themselves into a branch of the Fresno County Humane Society, to be known as the Clovis branch of the parent organization. A. R. D. Scott was appointed temporary chairman, and Frederick Gibson was chosen temporary secretary. Organization as above was effected, on a motion to make the temporary officers permanent, Mr. Scott declined to be the chairman or president of the branch association, and on motion the secretary was instructed to elect the unanimous ballot for president, the Rev. J. W. Jordan, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Clovis, and for Frederick Gibson as secretary. The by-laws provided that the officers of the association consist of a chairman, secretary and treasurer, and such committees as the chairman may deem proper from time to time appoint. Several of the members brought up cases of cruelty which are still rampant in Clovis, notwithstanding that Mr. Hurvey had made several trips to Clovis lately and had had several prosecutions. The first case was the case of a mother who had several children who were continually drunk and neglected her children, and used excessively foul language. The second case was of a girl twelve years of age who was continually and excessively whipped until her health was damaged. The third case was of a man who yesterday, that is the day of our meeting, Friday, was dealing with a baby horse and he rigged up a barbed wire fence for the horse. The horse continued to kick until it was frightened and ran and bleeding and the new president, Mr. Jordan, and the secretary were instructed to go before Justice Beal, and swear out a complaint as the evidence of the cruelty complained of was absolute and well sustained. This was ordered to be done today.

The question of censoring picture shows was then discussed at length, and it was unanimously resolved to go before the trustees of the city of Clovis and ask them to pass an ordinance censoring shows, similar to the one which was agreed upon at the directors' meeting of the parent society in the city of Fresno recently. Rev. H. H. Wilson, H. Connor, and Clyde L. Gibson were appointed an executive committee to work together with the trustees in carrying out the instructions herewith given, and conduct any further business which might arise pending the next meeting of the members. Very eloquent addresses were made by the Rev. H. H. Wilson, Rev. J. W. Jordan, C. L. Gibson and William H. Hurvey. It was resolved to hold meetings every three months of the general body and a committee's meeting every month.

The meeting then adjourned for two weeks and refreshments and enjoyed a social time and the meeting broke up at a late hour.

Following is a list of the Clovis members of the branch: Dr. and Mrs. T. R. Clark, Arthur Bode, W. M. Whitaker, Mrs. J. W. Hildreth, Mrs. N. C. Baker, Mrs. H. H. Baker, Mrs. L. C. Hildreth, Mrs. A. Hildreth, Mrs. P. H. Jackson, Rev. C. L. Russell, Rev. J. W. Jordan, Rev. M. S. McMurtry, Mrs. K. C. Scott, Rev. E. L. Goad, W. A. Maxwell, E. L. Buchanan, Prof. C. J. Fennell, Mrs. C. S. McMurtry, Mrs. E. J. Moore, Mrs. L. Raynor, Mrs. L. Hildreth, Joseph Galt, K. M. Hansen, Charles Farmer's Packing House, William Duncan, Bluffs & Williams, J. C. Hobbs, C. P. Sellers, Charles K. Smith, Frank Smith, Mrs. Edith Hildreth, Mrs. H. H. Hildreth, M. S. Davis, Frank Hildreth, Nelson & Kistner, J. G. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. R. Scott, T. M. McKelvey, Rev. H. H. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Connor.

Join This Big Land Syndicate

For years you've known that the biggest money is made subdividing lands. You've wanted to "get in right" on some such deal, but never dreamed of having a real opportunity at the ground floor.

Here's just that opportunity. The man of average and even moderate means has the same chance here with the millionaire. We play no favorites. Our president, Mr. Benjamin F. Graham, knows what it means to start at the bottom.

$10 and up starts you right here—going up to success. The Graham Farm Lands Co. has just bought the 72,000 acre Graham Ranch, in beautiful and fertile Fresno county, California. It has excellent soil and all the water it can use—and more, too. There's a prosperous colony on Graham Ranch. The new town of Graham is now being started. We have the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad cutting one corner of the ranch, and a branch line in regular and full operation all the way through the land.

There isn't a better piece of acreage anywhere in the Golden State for either alfalfa and dairying, or general farming. We've bought this land so advantageously that big profits are simply bound to accrue.

The Graham Farm Lands Company is now selling a limited block of its 6 per cent Preferred Stock. We think so well of this stock that we will accept it at par plus 10 per cent one minute after you buy it in payment of any Graham Ranch Land that is for sale. This stock is REALLY "Preferred." It takes its 6 per cent per annum first; thereafter the common stock is entitled to 6 per cent per annum; and the preferred stock is not only fully participating with the common in all further profits, but upon partial or total liquidation of the assets, the preferred stock is redeemed at par, plus all unpaid dividends, before the common stock shares in the distribution at all.

No fairer proposition was ever made the man with $100. There are no hooks or pitfalls to our proposition. It will bear the minutest investigation by yourself or anyone you may send. Look into the proposition now, and remember

The man of moderate means here puts himself on a par with the millionaire. SEND FOR LITERATURE OR CALL AT OFFICE FOR INFORMATION.

Autumn Showing

Now Comes in the Autumn Business With a Rush

—At Kutner's means more to women than the heading would seem to indicate. Besides having the grandest showing of Autumn Requirements we wish to particularly emphasize the fact that at this store prices are far below those usually asked about town for goods of equal merit. In this era of advancing costs many merchants are obliged to lower the qualities to keep to standard selling prices—such as items at 25c, 50c or $1.00.

More and More Women Come to Kutner's for Coats

—The careful cut of our coats, the exclusive wools, the economy of time saved by shopping where there is every style of coat that is in style—all have weight—if you are thinking of ordering a coat from the tailor, spend just a half hour among these first. The coats this season do not fit. They "hang," so every woman can be correctly coated in a "ready-to-wear" at a moderate price at Kutner's.

—The most admired styles are—

—Coats of Chinchilla, at $13.50

—Coats of Irish Frieze and Scotch mixture fabrics at $15.00

—Coats of Cheviot and rough mixtures at $18.95

—Coats of Zibeline at $15.00 and $18.95

—Robespierre or Johnny Coats of cheviot, in navy or brown, lined with red satin, $15.00

—Ulster Coats of warm melton cloth, $8.50

—Mackinaw Coats of plaids and check, $10.00

—Navajo Blanket Coats, in pretty effects, $18.95

Many Women Prefer a Plain Tailored Suit for Fall

—They say it goes better with wash blouses and other thin waists, therefore you will find many of this description at Kutner's.

—For $15.00 we have some attractive models in mixtures, strictly tailored and cut on good lines.

—For $25.00, truly beautiful modes in serges, chevots and mixtures; cutaway styles and the plain tailored models.

Whether a Man Is Safe

—In paying $15.00 for a suit depends entirely upon the suit that is offered at the price. There are suits sold at $15.00 that we would not like any customer friend of ours wearing.

—On the other hand, many of the best looking, best wearing suits to be worn this season will be sold for $15.00. Of course that means the famous "Frankel Fifteen" guaranteed suits. You will find a good showing of these in our Men's Clothing Dept.

$2.50 of a Man's Money —Will buy him one of Kutner's serviceable Derby hats. They come in all sizes and shapes that men like. We have the biggest assortment of men's hats in Fresno, and prices are moderate, too.

The securing of Lew Carter and his Merry Youngsters assumes a few preliminary steps, but it is just in line with the kind of talent that the Emmet School has to offer. The people do not mind the "rough" and "wild" and "unconventional" of the Emmet School. For these things

Not only were the arrivals in spring wheat centers more liberal than of late, but the weather was also more propitious was said to be active hedging in consequence. The Canadian movement, too, showed signs of becoming brisk. All this attracted attention from wheat and tender to pull down prices.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The feature of the early dealings in today's stock market was California Petroleum, which was sold at the outside of 50 and advanced steadily advances on the curb. This stock opened with large openings at 50 to 51 and closed with 55.35, its closing price being the highest of the day. The stock later dropped several points but appeared to be in demand.

For the rest of the afternoon the specialty appeared to excite apprehension among traders and the market was somewhat unsettled. In the last hour, however, the list made a recovery. In the final dealings Lehigh Valley advanced 1/2 point on heavy trading. Other representative issues became active at improved prices and the movement soon embraced various mining, utility stocks and low price industrial stocks.

The market's rebound from yesterday's decline was not sufficient to satisfy foreign investors which were more hopeful regarding the Balkan situation and the effect of the new tariff bill and they steadily. Total sales, par value $1,000,000.

The average advance advanced 1.8 per cent of the worth.

The son of one of the leading representatives of a foreign nation in Washington announced one day: "When I grow up I am going to be an ambassador or an American citizen. Pleased for reasons, he said: "So I can always live in Washington."

"But it takes a long time to become an ambassador," his father reminded him. "You would have to be secretary first, and even if you had, you were promoted and received an appointment, it might be to Madagascar or Herzegovina. What would you do then?"

This is the opinion held by most of the children of the diplomatic corps in Washington; even the treacherous "ginger home" possess little attraction thoroughly if they love the capital. Children of diplomats are described as nomadic, and the youngsters dread these changes as much as do other members of the family, for the freedom and spontaneity of American life are most attractive to those who have known an atmosphere of the strict rules and formal etiquette prevalent in Europe. Where necessary removals occur, as the children leave the country, others take their places immediately, for foreign children are always ready to fill the void created by a childless diplomat. The boys and girls, like their parents, have a taste for the pleasures of the world, the haunts and legations, as well as the school friends and everyday acquaintances of American-born youngsters. In the "Diplomatic Club," the "Diplomatic Set," in the October Strand

HANFORD, Oct. 5.—On Monday voters of Hanford will express their views on the proposition of incurring a bonded indebtedness of $107,000 for the re-construction of its sewer system, establishment of a sewage disposal plant on the sewer farm, and the extension of its system of Hanford. For the latter $25,000 is proposed and for the sewers $82,000.

MOTOR CARS

Made in Chalmers Shops

It Levels the Hills

One good test of a car is on the hills. That's where you find out if its heart is sound and its wind is good. If it sputters and wheezes and coughs, you will be sorry you didn't buy a CHALMERS hill leveler. The CHALMERS has four speeds forward. You take ordinary hills on the high gear. If they are more than ordinary, you shift to the third speed. It is almost as fast as the fourth (high), but gives more power without loss of speed and without disagreeable and costly racing of the engine. It is useful in city traffic and on heavy roads. The second speed for hills of perpendicular tendencies, and a first to use in starting the car. This four-forward-speed transmission is distinctive in the CHALMERS. Many other cars lacking the third, which not only adds greatly to the comfort and convenience of driving, but lengthens the life of the car because it saves "racing". In building the CHALMERS we not only strive to make a car that will sell, but that will sell another. It is astonishing how eloquent are efficiency and economy, and how conclusively they prove themselves in the CHALMERS. The clean, "classy" lines—the finish, trim, and coloring—the power denoting "aim" of the engine—and the smiling satisfaction of its driver, save as much of the ordinary cost of selling a car. And this saving is reflected in the price. The Chalmers Company was the first regularly to equip a medium priced car with a four-forward speed transmission. This distinctive Chalmers feature gives a gear for every emergency. Four speeds forward add immeasurably to the flexibility of the car. Motor efficiency is increased because of the four-forward speed transmission and does not put unnecessary strain on the power plant. In addition to four speeds forward the CHALMERS transmission is silent and smooth running to the last degree. All transmission gears are cut from the highest grade steel in the Chalmers shops. They are thoroughly heat-treated and ground to an accuracy of one-half of 1-1000 of an inch. So perfect is the construction and so accurate the workmanship that the gears of a Chalmers transmission can be shifted at high speed without "chatter" or grinding. No cars at any price have better transmissions than the Chalmers. Let us show you these cars at our showrooms.

FAST TIME MADE AT AUTO RACES; MANY ACCIDENTS BUT NO INJURIES

Accidents and fast time were the only things that gave the big audience at the fair grounds any thrill in the automobile races yesterday afternoon. The races were devoid of anything that looked like a contest, because the winners in all three events jumped into the lead at the start and gave the crowd an opportunity to guess only on how much they would come in ahead of the other contestants.

Earl Cooper, driving a Stutz, took all the big honors, by winning the 10 mile race in 5:57.4 and the 25 mile race in 24:53.4. He also drove an exhibition mile with a flying start, and broke the track record of 50.4, made several years ago by Barney Oldfield. Cooper drove the mile in 35.

G. L. Weather, in a Mercer, won the 5 mile event from the Warren in 5:15.4. The 25 mile race for all furnished the only bit of excitement of the afternoon because of the accidents that disabled cars but did not injure occupants.

The first accident came in the second lap when the Buick No. 4, driven by Sulphur Denta, locked with the Mercer at the last turn on the back stretch while the two cars were going something over 60 miles an hour. The Mercer finally broke away but went about 150 yards before it could be stopped. One rear wheel was broken and the axle was badly strained. Both cars were put out of commission. The Buick had a flat tire and a broken wheel cap.

According to Weather, he was traveling along the back stretch a little better than 60 miles an hour and after passing the Buick, had out of it, because of a big cloud of dust at the turn. Denta, driver of the Buick, started to round the turn on the outside of the track and suddenly bore down toward him. Weather hugged the rail as closely as possible, but the Buick came on until the two had locked. After running, locked together, for about 40 yards, the Buick stopped, but the Mercer went on about 150 yards before it was brought to a stop outside the track.

Denta claimed that a hind tire blew out and that he couldn't help himself. The tire was flat immediately after the accident.

Weather entered a protest last night with F. J. Walker, representing the A. A. A., under whose sanction the race meet was held, against Denta, claiming that his driving was of such a nature that she should be ruled off. Several fouls were claimed.

SEALS WIN GAME IN LAST OF NINTH

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—San Francisco defeated Los Angeles in a game that was in doubt until the last half of the ninth, when a double by Schmidt sent Yona across the plate with the run that made the score 5 to 2. Errors by Schmidt were responsible for at least two of Los Angeles' runs but the two batters redeemed the San Francisco catcher.

Each team used two pitchers, Musser and McCory having been hit so freely that they were withdrawn.

SENATORS DIVIDE GAMES WITH HAPS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5.—After trailing Vernon to the last inning of the first game in today's double-header, Sacramento fell upon Brackenridge for four hits, one of them a double, and with a base on balls, scored four runs and won the game, 4 to 3. Gilligan was hit hard but not connected. In the second game, Vernon hit Peters hard, and besides bunched his hits in three innings, scoring nine runs off nine hits and won easily, 5 to 1. This game was called at the end of the seventh on account of darkness. Litch's hitting was a feature of both games.

COY'S HOME RUN HELPS IN VICTORY

PORTLAND, Oct. 5.—Oakland turned the tables on Portland today and won nine to two. The league leaders mistreated Harkness' offerings for five innings and then turned their battery on Koenster with even more disastrous effect. The result was four-run hits, topped with Coy's home run. Harkness' luck in scoring doubles at the opposite times was all that prevented a runless score for the home team.

CHICK MARTIN IS HANFORD CAPTAIN

HANFORD, Oct. 5.—Under the captaincy of Chick Martin, who succeeded to that honor today when Len Tegurio resigned, the Hanford Highwaymen will journey to Lemoore tomorrow to attempt to beat Charley Mills and the Lemoore Cubs, in the first of a series of three games. Hawley or McCallin will twirl for Hanford, though some attempt has been made to secure an imported pitcher for the series.

Apperson of the Cubs will be out of the game as the result of the injury received when he slid home last Sunday in the game against Kingsburg.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON COMING AFTER TROPHY

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 5.—Sir Thomas Lipton is on his way to the United States to challenge the winner of the American cup. He sailed today, and said in reply to an inquiry: "I am going to New York prepared to challenge for the American cup after discussing the terms under the latest rules of the American yacht club."

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—G. A. McCormack, secretary of the New York Yacht Club, was not inclined to take seriously today the report that Sir Thomas Lipton was coming to America prepared to challenge for the cup.

BRAGG WINS GRAND PRIX ROAD RACE; DE PALMA WRECKED IN FAST FINISH

WAUWATOSA, Wis., Oct. 5.—Caleb Bragg, a wealthy young Cincinnati driver, won today the fourth international grand prix automobile road race, with a Fiat car after a sensational last lap finish, in which Ralph De Palma was seriously injured.

Bragg captured the race from a field of twelve starters, which included the country's most widely known drivers of heavy cars. Only six of the twelve starters finished.

Bragg's speed-average was 68.3 miles an hour, as against the late David Bruce-Brown's average of 74.45 miles an hour, in last year's grand prix event at Savannah, Ga. He covered the distance of 400 miles, 476 feet in five hours, 58 minutes and 25 seconds.

The winner drove a heavy, consistent pace, never being further back than third place, at any stage of the long grind. He was in the lead through thirty laps of the fifty-lap contest.

For the first eighty miles, Teddie Tezla led the field, but Bragg and De Palma were almost on top of Tezla all the time.

With the elimination of Tezla, by means of an accident to his Fiat car at the 24 mile post, the race settled down to a driving duel between Bragg and De Palma.

De Palma was two minutes and 36 seconds behind Bragg as the two swung into the last 7.58 mile lap. Bragg had showed down considerably and De Palma set out to catch the driver. He caught him on next to the last lap of the contest. In a desperate effort to pass Bragg on the narrow roadway, near where Bruce Brown was killed on Tuesday, De Palma shot his heavy Mercedes into the rear of Bragg's Fiat. In the result from this collision, De Palma's car was thrown into the ditch and wrecked. De Palma and his mechanic, Tom Allen, was thrown clear of the car.

Bragg, as his part of the $10,000 purse, received $2,000. Edwin Bergdoll, of Philadelphia, who drove a Fiat car, into second place, after a pretty hard race with Bragg, received $2,500. Bergdoll's average speed for the race was 64.61 miles an hour. Gil Anderson, who finished third with a Stutz car, the only American car to finish throughout the race, gets $1,500 as his cash. His average speed was 62.55 miles an hour. Barney Oldfield, who finished fourth with a Fiat car at an average speed of 64.75 miles an hour, took $900 as fourth money. George Clark, who was still driving his Mercedes with one more lap to go when Oldfield finished, was flagged as stalled Wagner and was awarded $500 as fifth money.

PORTERVILLE OUT FOR RUGBY TITLE

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 5.—Of the 125 old students of the Union H. who are eligible for one of their scholarships to aspire to the Rugby football team this season, over forty players were out for practice last evening. This is the largest squad in the history of the game in this city.

H. L. Peterson, the head coach of the Union H. states that he has some of the best material in the history of the school as well as the most material. When it is remembered that Porterville has captured the championship for the past two years, the significance of this statement can be better appreciated.

Scoutings for games two or three times each week with the Lindsay and, which are in the Class B division, have not as yet been completed, but it is hoped they may be carried through this coming week.

BRITISH COLUMBIA WINS RIFLE SHOOT IN NORTH

PORTLAND, Oct. 5.—British Columbia today won the first international rifle shoot over the team of Oregon, Washington and Idaho with a strong margin. The total score for the two days was 2529, Oregon, 2474; Washington, 2529; Idaho 2466.

EDDYTORIAL

If our eddytorial memry serves us correct we aint so far wrote a eddytorial on "Ottum" up to the present writing this Fall, and so we take our pen in hand to do that same without further delay.

It has allus been our custom to write a eddytorial on Fall jest as it is our custom to write one on Spring as reglar as Spring & Fall comes around, and we shall not depart from our usual custom on this occasion.

There is all the more reason why we should write a eddytorial on "Ottum" on this opishus occasion being as Miss Sally Hoskins, our talented poet writer has at our earnest & repeated solisitashun just dashit off a pome entitled "Ottum" for publicashun in the Bugle, & it is fitting that our Eddytorial & Sally's pome both on the same subject should appear in this column in concuneshun & simultanus.

We have been at Sally for the past several wks to dash us off a pome on Ottum, but Sally, like all other geniuses, says that she got to wait for inspiration. In other words you cant crowd genius—you haft to let it take its time and when it gits good & reddey then it will take its pen in hand and do justice to the subject whatever it may be.

We have a good cal of genius ourself, but we have teached it to know its place and to come to us when we whissel for it instid of hanging back to suit itself. When it comes to writing eddytorials for the Bugle we can't lounge back in a easy chair like Sally Hoskins and wait for inspiration—if we did there wouldn't be no eddytorials in the Bugle and like as not we would starve to deth being as if we had to wait for inspiration we calculate we would haft to wait a turrible long spell. In other words we have teached our genius to come when called and git bizzy on the job.

However, as us perdoose as fol-lers Sally Hoskins' turrible bootiful & pathetick pome on "Ottum"—

OTTUM

By Miss Sally Hoskins

O Ottum, Ottum, you are here again!
& in my hart von almost give me a pame

Beccuz you go & make me so sad
When I wood a good cal rather be full of joy & glad!

The leaves has all fell from the trees
& there is a awful coolish like feel to the breeze.
I hate to see the flours die like everything—
Alas no more flours will bloom til next Spring!

O dear, O dear, O dear, O dear!
Awful winter will soon be here!
Soon weal feel the North winds say
breth
& like as not weal freeze to deth!

I dont like Ottum it is so melancolick
& I feel sad instid of like fun
& frolick!
If I could wish & git the thing,
I wish for Id wish for Spring (all the time).

Lokal Squibs

Doc Livermore, our perffeshional horse doctor & human speshialist, says that the Stork will visit a certain family in Bingville before another issue of the Bugle comes out. We think we know who Doc means, but the less said about it the better until the happy event has culminated. Any further mentchion of this affair at this time would be prematour & out of place. Well, this will make one more inhabitant for Bingville—our populashun is steadily increasing.

Cy Hoskins went to sleep in church last Sunday jest before the contribution plate was passed, and as a result diddnt put nothink into the plate. We have noticed that he has been going to sleep every Sunday of late jest before the contribushun is tuk up, but after that he wakes up and is as bright as a dollar while the sermon is being preached! You can draw your own conclusions.

Miss Amelia Tucker, Bingville's raining society queen, is not taking much part in the social whirl of Bingville at present, being as Amelia is suffering from a ingrowing toenail which is giving her considerable trouble, and as a result she has retired from sossociety for the time being.

Bill Hepburn, our artistick blacksmith, made his usual Satterday trip to the co seat last Satterday and returned home about dark full as a tick, as is his custom. Bills wife put him to bed. All day Sunday Bill had a splittin headache, but Monday morning he was at work in his shop, but was in a turrible bad humor until Tuesday. It is a awful thing for a person to let old demon Rum git a hold on em like that.

Wes Woodruff, our expert hunter & trapper, is getting ready to put out his line of traps which he will do soon. We persoon about the first thing Wes ketches in his traps will be a skunk and then he will be osterized from Bingville sossociety for the rest of the winter. Wes he dont seem to mind the odor, but others does & they avoid him

Ame & Eph in a Fite!

Our Accommodating P. M. & Our Attorney, J. of the P. & Legal Light Come to Blows Over Nothink at all—Full Particklers of the Disgraseful Perceeding Below!

A turrible disgraseful perceeding tuk place in the Bingville P. O. last Tuesday afternoon, in which Eph Higgins, our accomodating P. M. & Ame Hill, our well known attorney, kory & legal light, participated, & as a result are remainin as long as they live.

Tuesday was a quiet day in the P. O. and along in the afternoon, being as nobody had come into the P. O. to purchase a stamp or even for their mail for the last hour or two, Eph Higgins set down in a chair, tilted it back agin the wall, pulled his hat down over his eyes and went to sleep in deep disgust.

Bye and Bye, after Eph had got off sound to sleep, so to speak, Ame Hill, ever dropped into the P. O. to see if there was any mail for him, being as Ame had been hired the night before reading up on a lawsuit case and didnt have time to git his mail. Ame wasnt in a very good humor when he got to the P. O., being as just before leaving home he had tuk some honey from one of his hives of bees for home consumption and got stingin a couple of times & the stings was still painin him some & well, Ame he walked into the P. O. and passed Eph, who was setting in the chair asleep, and went over to the P. O. boxes and looked into his box and even a circular or somethink in the box and "I'll take 'em mail, Eph," he said, as he took the mail, Eph, who was sound asleep, of course didnt hear him and as a result didnt stir.

Ame looked around at Eph and says, again, "I said I'd take my mail, Eph, but Eph kept right on snoring. Ame began to git out of patience, being as he thought Eph was playing a joke on him, so he speaks up pretty sharp and says, "How many times do I haft to ask you for my mail? If you think I'm a goat to stand here and wait for me to sleep when there's somethink important in my mail box, your turrible a joke!" Eph got up and gimme him a look and he take both measures with him, Eph Higgins! You're a servant of the government & you're not to give it to him right off, do you hear?"

Eph didnt hear a word when Eph said, "I said I'd take my mail, Eph, but Eph kept right on snoring. Ame began to git out of patience, being as he thought Eph was playing a joke on him, so he speaks up pretty sharp and says, "How many times do I haft to ask you for my mail? If you think I'm a goat to stand here and wait for me to sleep when there's somethink important in my mail box, your turrible a joke!" Eph got up and gimme him a look and he take both measures with him, Eph Higgins! You're a servant of the government & you're not to give it to him right off, do you hear?"

and set straddle of him and slapped Ame's face for him until Ame hollered that he had enough.

Eph then let Ame git up and Ame told Eph this wouldn't be the last he would hear of this and walked out the office and back home pretty mad and madder a wet hen. Eph was also a good cal scratched & bruised and didnt know why Ame had assailed him until he found out from others who Ame told. Ame went home without getting his circular, and now he says it can rot in his mail box before he'll stick his nose into the Bingville P. O. again.

Ame says he is a going to write a letter to the P. O. authorities at Washington and have the Bingville P. O. took away from Eph Higgins. Eph says he wishes to goodness he would, being as it only paid him $7.14 for the last quarter, which ain't sufficient for keeping the office open.

Ame says hes going to stop having his mail come to the Bingville P. O. but to the co seat instid. He says he would a good deal rather haft to go all the way to the co seat for his mail than haft to go to the Bingville P. O. for it.

We dont see but what at the present writing Eph has the best of things. Jest beccuz Ame was stingin by a couple of bees ain't no reason he should take out his spite on our accomodating P. M.

Country Correspondence

Ad Woods says he calculates to do considerable lumbering during the coming winter and will begin operations as soon as the snow flies.

Len Peters' boy Rubie made a punkin face, cut a big punkin and put a candle in it one night last wk and set it on the front player, and when Lem came home about 9 p. m. the candle think a-wait him turrible. When Lem found out he give Rubie a good kickin for it.

It is roomered on good authority that Sam Parker & Miss Phronicia Hunt, who has been on the outs for a while, are keepin company again as usual, and are just as sweet on each other as ever. We persoon it wasnt nothink but a love spat, anyhow.

Black Henderson made a trip out into the country from here last Sunday and report is the chestnut crop is a failure, being as he only found a few and them was such shrunk up wizarded little things they wasnt worth bodderin with.

SORROW HOLLOW

Josh Shale had his hair cut over to Hardersable last wk. This is a queer time for you to have your hair cut, Josh, right on the threshold of winter, when you will need it to keep your head warm, but Josh calculated he need of a haircut, being as he hadnt had one for two years.

Mrs. Alvira has a cow for sale. Alvira says she will sell the cow rather than bother milkin her and feedin her through the winter. This cow is fresh, too. Who wishes to buy a fresh cow?

Pete Hoskins has been spruin up and begin his face & ears washed clean of lice that they fairly shine. He also wears a scarfed shirt and stiff collar and uses grease on his hair and you ever notice this, Lucy?

Personal Brevities

Thats has been to look a good cal on Ottum in our midst.
S calling of Ottum, we call your requested attention to a pame on "Ottum" which appears in our eddytorial column of this issue, & while your reading that you might as well read our few eddytorial remarks on the same subject.

Miss Phronicia Hoskins is suffering from a boil on her neck and enjoys the heartfelt sympathy of Bingville folks in her painful affliction. It is a good cal better though, Phronicia, to have it on your neck, than on your face—if it was on your face your face would be all swelled up and you would look foolish & ridicul in the extreme. Hon Smiley says he cant remember when he was ever so short of socks as at the present writing, being as he aint got a pr to his name but whats got holes in em. Hons wife has been so busy with her fall work that she aint had time to darn Hons socks for him.

Please subscribe for the Bugle, and when you do subscribe kindly accompan your subscription with the cash, being as we are pretty hard pushed for same at the present writing.

Emily Henderson says she would visit her sister over to Hardersable for a few days if she could only git some kind persons to feed her chickens and milk her cow for her. Who will volunteer to do this for Emily?

AWFUL CHEEP

As you all know I have been engaged in the business of repairing umbrellers for a yr. or 2, but I have now desided to sell out all my bizness and good will to the 1st person who comes along. Here is a chance to build up this bizness into somethink that will make you rich beyond the fondest dreams of avarise. You can let it will never make you rich unless it is built up more than it is at present. Good reasons give for selling. The principle reason is that bizness in this line is turrible dull & I wood prefer to git into somethink where I could make a living if possible. If the above aint a good reason for selling I can give you some more. I would be a blame fool to sell out if bizness was as brisk as it ought to be. Now as to the price: I will sell you my bizness, good will and tools for the small sum of 75 cts! This includes broken ribs and good ribs, several old handles, calipers, screw driver, wires, two umbreller covers (one with holes in it), etc., too numerous to mention. Here is a chance for you! Being as there aint no money in the umbreller fixing bizness in this locality I dont think that 75 cts is too much for a good spending with no opposition. If this price is too much I'll take less beccuz Im going to sell regardless of cost!
